A wound which never heals

Hello everybody welcome to my first english story, yes it is my first one so please dont be an ass and say something like that: Haha you idiot:C.

I got this review for an german story.

I am not owning How to train your dragon.

A wound which never heals

Her scream. And than nothing quietness. He turns round and there she is.

â€ž_Why Hiccup? You could have rescued me but you let me fall. No, that was your plan you wanted me to die YOU KILLED ME!" She turns round and walks away._

â€ž_No Astrid wait I dont wanted this please come back to me."_

â€ž_You betrayed me Hiccup I am dead only because of you. Goodbye Hiccup."_

â€žNo..." Then he woke up drenched in sweat. It was only a nightmare, again.

The same dream every night.

It happened when the Green Death was going to suck Astrid's Nadder into his mouth Toothless shot onto the bastard's mouth and she fell down.

â€žToothless quick!" It was so close, he had to watch his love falling into her death. Her body crashed into the ground. This happened 5 weeks ago.

Toothless tipped his arm. â€žYou're right bud it wasn't our fault but she is gone forever." He began to cry, his tears fell allover his nightshirt leaving salty dots.

He should be happy. He killed the Green Death and founded the peace between Vikings and Dragons! But he would never be happy again, because there's a wound which never heals.

So it's bit short i know and i hope there are not so many mistakes. I hope you enjoyed it.

And if you like art like drawings and digital art then meet deviantart. There are mabny really cute drawings about How to train your dragon.

End
file.
